The View from the Vicarage

Charlotte and Becky made one of my dreams come true last Christmas. They bought me my very own Landrover Defender. Before you wonder too much about the Vicarage finances let me tell you that it was the Lego Technics version not the actual vehicle. I have always been a fan of Landys and spent a lot of time in them in my Army days but owning one, even a very old one, is beyond my pocket. But now I am the proud owner of a Lego Landy.

When I opened the box and looked at the more than 2,500 pieces that made up the model I was rather worried. It all looked very complex; the steering, gearbox, suspension, winch and doors all work so there was a lot to do. I have to admit that I panicked a bit as I could not immediately see any instructions. Then at the very bottom of the box I found them. All 495 pages of them! That made me panic even more. It all looked too complicated.

The next day I took a deep breath and started the build; over the next days I worked through the 860 stages that took this pile of Lego bits and pieces and turned them into a working model of a Defender.

Some stages were very easy, others much more difficult. Every so often I would go wrong; either misreading the instructions or using the wrong piece of Lego. Every time I made a mistake, I went back a step or two to where I had gone wrong and corrected the error. Very quickly I realised that I had complete faith in my instruction book. Sometimes what it seemed to ask of me did not make sense until I re-read the text and realised, I had misunderstood. I often struggled to find the right piece of Lego in the box, but I knew it would be there, and it always was. I had complete faith in the designers of this model. They had provided me with everything that I needed to complete it and complete it I did.

Within a few days I had complete faith in the makers of this model. When I made a mistake, I knew it was my fault. When I followed their instructions and used the parts they had provided me with everything was fine. How different to real life. Usually when things go wrong I am convinced that it is someone else's fault. Or it is 'bad luck' or something along those lines. Of course, life is far more complicated than even the most complex model but I was shocked at how easy I found it to have faith in a Scandinavian Toy Company whilst struggling at times with the plans that God seems to have for my life.

God gives each of us all that we need to live happy, fulfilled lives. Life can be difficult, just now we don't need to look too far to see how difficult. But whatever happens in our lives God is with us and the love that he has for each of us is shown in the love of those around us, and in the love that we have for others.

In these difficult days I pray that you will feel God's love for you and be able to share that love with others.

God bless you all
Stephen

News from Norwood Chapel

Dear Friends,

I hope you and those dear to you are keeping well and staying safe. As I write this, we've just entered our 3rd national lockdown. By the time you read this, we will still be in lockdown! You might have already received your first jab of the coronavirus vaccine. If so, I rejoice with you! You might have already received your second jab of the vaccine. If so, I'm dancing a jig! When this 3rd lockdown is lifted, I trust the restrictions and vaccinations will have made a big difference in decreasing the spread of the coronavirus. The near future will look much brighter for all of us.

In this current lockdown, the government is allowing public worship to continue. However, our Methodist circuit has decided to pause its in-person worship for a month out of concern for the higher risk of transmission this new variant of the virus poses. Once we resume services at Norwood Chapel, we will communicate this news with you.

May the psalmist's words give us hope grounded in the faithfulness and the strength of God during these challenging times: "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore we will not fear though the earth gives way, though the mountains be moved into the heart of the sea, though its waters roar and foam, though the mountains tremble at its swelling." (Psalm 46:1-3) Friends, may we not lose hope . . . a new day is dawning.

Living in hope,
~ Rev. Shannon

Services at Norwood Chapel

Our Methodist Circuit staff team made the decision to pause in-person worship for all our churches on the Wharfedale & Aireborough Circuit. We plan to review the situation on a regular basis. Once we resume in-person worship, we will communicate that with you.

Lent

Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent, is on the 17th of February. We usually hold a service for those who like to mark this day by being 'ashed'; having a cross made on their forehead using ashes from last year's Palm Crosses as a sign of their intention to use the season of Lent to draw closer to their Saviour.

This year this service will be a virtual one. Details of this service will be available nearer the time on 'A church near you' and in the Benefice bulletin. (Please let me know if you would like to be added to the bulletin distribution list).

Leeds Diocese is encouraging us all to look afresh at our lives and how we live them through a programme called "Rhythm of Life." Lent is a great time to engage with this programme and the Rhythm of Life team will be producing a specific Lent course this year which I hope you will think about using. Again details will be available nearer the time on A Church near you and in the weekly bulletin.

Washburn Parish Council

Washburn Parish Council covers the areas of Blubberhouses, Fewston, Norwood and Timble. The Parish Council is the first tier of local government and is a body of volunteers elected to represent the views of their community.

The Parish Council met in early January to agree the parish budget for the upcoming financial year. The Council agreed a parish precept of £7,700 for the year 2021-22. This precept will be used to ensure local maintenance works carried out by the parish caretaker, upkeep of the Meagill Lane Chapel, and equipment maintenance at the Swinsty Moor Car Park defibrillator, as well as ensuring the Council meets its statutory obligations and responsibilities through the Parish Clerk.

In addition, Washburn Parish Council continues to report highways issues affecting the parish; monitor and comment on local planning applications or major proposals that impact on the parish; and inform residents of activities and events in the parish on our noticeboards and website.

The next meeting of Washburn Parish Council will be held on Monday 1 March 2021 via Zoom, commencing at 7.30pm. Should you wish to contact any of your councillors please email washburnnpc@gmail.com or for more information about your council please visit www.washburnparishcouncil.co.uk

The parable of the Shrewd Manager

JESUS OFTEN TOLD STORIES WITH HIDDEN MEANINGS

ONCE JESUS TOLD A STORY ABOUT A RICH MAN...

...AND HIS SERVANT, WHO MANAGED THE RICH MAN'S PROPERTY.

THE RICH MAN HAD HEARD THAT THE MANAGER HAS BEEN WASTING MONEY.

SO HE CALLED THE MANAGER TO ACCOUNT FOR HIMSELF!

OH NO! I AM GOING TO GET THE SACK!!

THE MANAGER AGREED TO LET THE RICH MAN'S TRADERS FIDDLE THEIR BOOKS!

SO THEY ALTERED THEIR DEBTS - AND STAYED FRIENDS WITH THE MANAGER.

JESUS EXPLAINED THAT THE MANAGER HAD BEEN WISE IN MANAGING HIS FUTURE... EVEN THOUGH HE WAS BEING DISHONEST.

JESUS WAS TRYING TO ENCOURAGE THE PEOPLE TO THINK ABOUT THEIR OWN FUTURES TOO. BUT IT'S A HARD PARABLE TO UNDERSTAND!

A happy New Year to all. Not the best of starts to 2021, snow, black ice and the start of the third national lockdown.

A big thank you to Susan K and Susan F for producing the Christmas newsletter sent to all our members. This has been a great way to keep up with everyone. How would we have managed without emails and all the modern technology!

Our membership year begins in April – will be able to hold face to face meetings this year. The vaccine will help towards this goal.

With the aid of modern technology we have been able to vote on the WI short listed resolutions thank you Lesley for organising this. The most popular will then go forward to be voted on at the National Meeting in 2021 at the Royal Albert Hall- COVID-19 permitting, and form the basis of a national campaign.

The 5 short listed resolutions are:

- A call to increase awareness of the subtle signs of ovarian cancer
- Stop women dying prematurely from coronary heart disease (CHD)
- Stop Racism and discrimination
- Now's the time to act! Protect your nature space to create

- wildlife-friendly communities
- Stop the destruction of peat bogs to tackle climate change

Time now to take down the Christmas tree for another year and pack away the decorations and hope this year will be better.

For more information on our WI please contact President Susan Kerridge on 01423 733233 or Caroline Barker on 01423 734412 email farnleyestateWI@outlook.com

Who Feeds Garden Birds?

Answer – two thirds of us!

Oh, and we spend upwards of £600m doing so.

I'm not alone in having watched the birds in my garden more this last few months than ever before. Having stopped putting out supplementary food during the summer, it was a few weeks before they forgave me this lack of attention and came back in numbers – but they certainly have. You don't have to put out food to have birds around, but you certainly see more if you do, and it's well worth varying what you put out to see which is their favourite. It's suet balls in this restaurant!

Our garden is on the edge of York and normally welcomes around a dozen species each week in winter, according to my Garden BirdWatch records. The last few weeks though, it's been more like 15 or 16.

What has been thrilling me recently though, is the number of flocks around. Are there more this year or am I looking more closely and more often? I've had mixed finch flocks, mixed tit flocks and even Robins and Dunnocks have been present in twos and threes – not at all usual. Mind you, birds don't often read bird books and don't always realise how they are supposed to behave.

Email: washburnwharfe@btinternet.com

My mantra has long been “the more you look, the more you see” and this includes studying the interactions within and between species, and the different feeding strategies they use. New to me this year has been watching Nuthatches. There are two around, though I don't think they are a pair, as one is very dominant, and they are never on the feeders together. If the dominant one is there, the other one pops onto a nearby bush and waits its turn. That said, they both send off any intruders of a different species, and given those beaks, who's going to argue?

They are persistent cachers too. They just never stop going back and forth, and can be seen hiding black sunflower seeds under stones on the path, in the flower beds and in all sorts of nooks. I fear a sunflower explosion this summer, and I know who is going to be expected to pull them all up. A pair of Coal Tits is also busy caching, though not quite as frenetically.

Usually, we have only one Robin around, but this year there are at least three and they can be seen swinging their handbags at each other, often with a third standing nearby watching proceedings. Robins have winter territories and will defend them robustly. Dunnocks, also usually solitary, are hopping around under and on the feeders in twos and threes, though I've yet to see much unruly behaviour. I guess they could be young siblings.

Another difference in feeding strategy to look out for is that of Blue Tits which usually take seeds away to eat, whilst Great Tits may do so too or may eat in situ. Conversely, Finches when solitary or in pairs will sit and scrunch seeds for several minutes. O.K., things are different when a flock arrives; then it's all about competition. Look more closely at finches feeding though, and you'll see some of them, Bullfinches especially, roll the seeds in their beaks to remove the skin, even with sunflower hearts.

About the only birds which feed amicably as a flock are Long Tailed Tits, and I've seen 6 or 8 spend several minutes on suet balls all together.

As I said....the more you look, the more you see!

If you find the lives of our garden birds to be of interest, and would like to join in and count the feathered occupants of your garden, please contact me or visit the BTO Garden BirdWatch website - www.bto.org/gbw

Recipe

Pancakes with a twist

This is a chocolate pancake, with no added sugar so it is not a sweet pancake. It can be served with chocolate spread and cream however my personal favourite is Raspberry jam.

If you have a favoured pancake recipe simple exchange an ounce or tablespoon of flour for one of Cocoa powder.

Ingredients

85g / 3oz plain flour, sifted
25g / 1oz Cocoa Powder
2 eggs
200ml/7fl oz milk mixed with 75ml/3fl oz water (or all milk if preferred)

Filling

Raspberry jam

Method

Pre-make the batter. Whisk the eggs in a bowl or large jug. Add the flour, cocoa powder, milk and water and mix gently. Leave in the fridge over night allowing the flour to absorb the liquid.

Remove from the fridge 30 minutes before cooking (to bring to room temperature). Give the mixture a good whisk and ensure you are happy with the consistency.

Heat the pan and with add oil or butter as preferred. Not required for a non-stick pan.

Once the pan and oil are hot, place a ladle full of the batter in the pan moving it around the pan by tipping it from side to side.

Turn or flip the pancake to cook the other side.

Repeat until all the batter has been used up. Keep the cooked pancakes in the oven on a plate to keep warm.

Serve as you prefer and enjoy
